CUPID VERY BUSY
AMONG JOURNALISTS

Since First Class in 1909, 22
of 68 Graduates Have Married.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT

Three Women Give Up Newspaper Work to Become Wives.

Maybe it's because Cupid likes publicity that he's partial to newspaper men and women. Anyway he has a very special liking for the graduates of the School of Journalism of the University. Twenty-two of the sixty-eight graduates since the first class in 1909 are married. This is a higher per cent of marriages than any other division of the University can show for the last six years.

Only one of these marriages is of two graduates of the School of Journalism. They are Mr. and Mrs. H. J. MacKay, of Columbia, who were married Christmas day, 1914. Mrs. MacKay was Miss Myrtle McDougall of Sapulpa, Okla. She was graduated in 1914 and he in 1913. Mr. MacKay is University publisher and secretary of Alumni Association.

Mrs. Rutherford Corbin of Salt Lake City, who was formerly Miss Amy Armstrong and was graduated in 1913, had the most romantic marriage. She went to Chicago with a letter of introduction to the managing editor of one of the dailies there, presented her letter to the wrong man, fell in love with him on the spot, and was married next day. Mr. Corbin is now employed on the Salt Lake City Evening Telegram.

The other woman graduate of the School of Journalism who gave up active newspaper work for married life is Mrs. Robert D. Smith, formerly Miss Florence La Turno, who was graduated in 1912. She lives in St. Joseph.

One student who has married far away is Hin Wong, who was graduated in 1912. He is publishing a paper in his native land, China.

Entire First Class Married.

The entire class of 1909 is married. It was the first class, and consisted of Charles Arnold of Ashland. He married Miss Ethlyn Mitchell. Mr. Arnold is now teaching in the journalism department of the University of Pittsburgh.

Two of the married graduates are in the faculty of the School of Journalism. They are J. B. Powell, '10, instructor in advertising, and H. W. Smith, '11, instructor in illustration and photo-engraving. Mr. Powell married Miss Martha Hinton of Hannibal. They have a daughter, Martha B., who was born July 13, 1914. Mr. Smith married Miss Adele Agnes Belt of St. Louis during the Christmas holidays this year.

The School of Journalism of the University of Texas also has two married graduates of this school on its faculty. They are Buford Otis

Brown of Denton, Texas, '12, and Vaughn Bryant of Kansas City, '11. Mr. Brown married Hattie Mae Workman in 1914 and Mr. Bryant married Ethel Motley of Grand Rapids during the Christmas holidays.

Edward Robert Ashley Felgate of Shanghai, China, '12 married Ruth Babcock of Sedalia. They have a daughter, Florence Eleanor, born January 1, 1915. He is editor of the Brashear News.

Advertising Men in the List.
James Garfield May of New Holland, Ohio, '14, married Miss Caroline Jarus of Cleveland, Ohio, September 10, 1914. He is in the advertising department of the Cleveland Press.

Frank Warren Rucker of Jacksonville, Ill., '13, married Miss Esther Asplund of Little Indian, Ill., July 22, 1914. He is business manager of the Independence, Mo., Examiner.

Walter Campbell Stemmons of Joplin, '12, married Miss Lora Davis. He is editor of College Publications at the Agricultural and Mechanical College, Stillwater, Okla.

Earle Barton Trullinger of Maryville, Mo., '12, was married this month. He is in the dairy business at Maryville.

Gussie Viron Kenton of Lees Summit, Mo., '10, now employed on the St. Louis Star, Henry Hubbard Kinyon of Clinton, Mo., '12, now in the literary department of the Kansas City Star, and Harry E. Ridings of Meadville, Mo., '13, now of the advertising department of the Kansas City Star, are married.

Other graduates of the School of Journalism who are married are: Henry Ellis Birdsong of Clarksburg, Mo., '13; Robin Patterson Gould of El Paso, Texas, '10; Jasper Cunningham Hutto of Cisco, Texas, '10; Raymond Fletcher Leggett of Carthage, '11.

Among the former students of the School of Journalism who are married are Louis Resnick of the Associated Press, St. Louis, and Mrs. Besie Freedman Brener, editor of the New York Tribune's women's Sunday department and daily fashion page.

WILL OBSERVE ST. PAT'S DAY

Minnesota U. Engineers Will Reserve
March 17 for Stunts.

The University of Minnesota is the latest school where the engineering students are following the Missouri custom of observing St. Patrick's Day for stunts. That "St. Pat was an engineer" originated at the University of Missouri in 1903 and has gradually been taken up by the engineers in other schools.

The engineers in the following schools now observe St. Patrick's Day: The universities of Missouri, Minnesota, Iowa and Nebraska and the Rolla School of Mines.

C. E. Barkshire Is Better.

C. E. Barkshire, manager of the University Co-operative Store, is much better. He went to Kansas City to attend the track meet between Missouri and Kansas.
